

Is Apple Working On A Nav System For Future Mercedes Models?

{mosgoogle right}Welcome back ladies and gentlemen; I hope you all had a fantastic weekend. One of the stories making headlines today is a rumor published by the German magazine Focus which states that Apple - purveyor of the iPod, Mac computer line, soon-to-be iPhone, etc. - is developing a new navigation system which will make its debut on Mercedes models starting in 2009. The rumor then goes on to indicate that after a six-month exclusivity deal, other automakers will follow suit and offer the new nav units in addition to MB.

Â

Read moreÂ