

Mercedes CLS 63 And CLK 63 To Debut In Geneva

{mosgoogle right} Mercedes has just broke news power-hungry CLS and CLK owners everywhere have been longing to hear - the Mercedes-Benz CLS 63 AMG and the Mercedes-Benz CLK 63 AMG will be making their world debut at the Geneva Motor Show this March. Although it's hardly been a secret the two have been in development, today marks the first official confirmation the two models will see series production. So what can we look forward to in the new models? In the CLS 63 AMG, future owners can expect to see the 6.3-Liter V8 AMG engine. The new 378kW/514 horsepower engine was developed entirely by Mercedes-AMG, and helps propel the four-door coupe from 0-60 in just 4.5 seconds and reach an electronically limited top speed of 155 mph.
